		Essay	As a Libertarian - I strongly support parents' rights and oppose state intervention in the family. Minimum Government, Maximum Freedom. I want to nullify the Jones Act to immediately bring down the cost of living. I want to clean up corruption in government by restoring the constitutional rule of law, and providing oversight for our judiciary. I want to open the door for Hawaii to become an economic powerhouse and shining business hub of the pacific between the East and West. Together, Hawaii can Do Better.

	Essay	In this challenging economy, my plans focus on immediate relief and long-term growth. First, I will advocate for increasing the minimum wage to match the rising cost of living, ensuring all workers earn a fair income. Second, I will support affordable housing initiatives and rent control to ease the burden on families. Additionally, I will champion job training programs to equip our workforce with skills for high-demand sectors, fostering employment opportunities. 	Essay	One way to reduce the cost of living is to reduce the cost of energy and the cost of getting goods here. With 80% of our food and goods being imported, monopolies and mismanagement in shipping have driven up costs by 40%, which are directly passed onto residents. Hawai'i residents pay the highest electricity rates in the nation, nearly three times the U.S. average or Guam! If elected I would advocate for future Public Utilities Commissioners to be elected rather than appointed and for more oversight into rate increases.

	Essay		I have been helping our people statewide in training and education in the Film Industry for over 30 years and have been successful in getting them employed once they've taken the steps to continue on. My other plans are to implement education and training in the technology sector as we are transitioning to programs being used such as AI, Cloud based Managing, and more. I've also been in the Real Estate industry, and medical Industry for over 25 years, and had created the Tiny House Village Development plans for another affordable housing option. My main goal is creating jobs, for without a living wage job, people can't afford housing period, unless they work 3-5 jobs, such as I have done as a single parent. That's not living.

We need to find ways to reduce construction costs, regulations, and obstacles to achieve truly affordable single family owner-occupied housing. 		Essay	To address the economic struggles of our residents, I propose several initiatives to alleviate the financial burden on our community, especially the elderly and retired homeowners. First, I support eliminating taxes on essential items like groceries, which will directly reduce daily living expenses for all households. In Hawaii, the high cost of living is exacerbated by our reliance on imported goods. To combat this, I will advocate for increased support for local agriculture, reducing our dependence on imports and lowering food costs. Additionally, investing in renewable energy sources like solar and wind can help reduce utility bills and promote energy independence. Expanding access to affordable housing and healthcare tailored to the needs of our kupuna will ensure that our seniors can age comfortably in place. Your vote is vital in making these changes possible. Together, we can build a future where every resident of Kaimuki, Kapahulu, Kahala, and Diamond Head enjoys a higher quality of life and financial security.

		Essay	Aloha, Some of the questions above are more nuanced than a yes/no answer. Please allow me to expand on a couple of my responses: For the citizens initiative-I answered no because I don't think we have the proper government structure to prevent it from being abused by special interest groups. If the citizens initiative can be structured so that it is not abused then yes, I support it. For gambling-I think we should look into a state (or national/regional) lottery and using the proceeds for public schools. For homeless sweeps-the homeless usually come right back. If the "sweeps" placed them into mental health programs, recovery systems, and/or housing then yes I support them. I also support them for encampments that are known to have a high presence of drugs and/or criminal activity. I think this issue is much too complex for a yes/no answer. To lower the cost of living, I support repealing the Jones Act, eliminating the GET, expanding tax cuts to businesses, and reforming regulations that increase the costs of construction and reduce the availability of land use for building. Please feel free to contact me with any questions.

Essay		In the 1960s, kids had a 90% chance of doing better than their parents; today, it's less than 50%. Inequality and shrinking opportunities make it hard for our youth to stay in Hawaii. I'm focused on workforce development and creating competitive, local jobs so our kids can build a future here with minimal debt. Affordable housing is also crucial—families shouldn't spend more than 30% of their income on housing, but it's closer to 50%. I'm committed to policies that lower housing costs, support essential workers, and address rising property taxes, insurance, and HOA fees.

	Essay	Housing is the foundation for every person's ability to reach their full potential and being a positive contributor in society.Families especially need assistance in all ways available, to make sure parents are stable to best care for their children. For those who have lived and work in the local economy, they should not have rent that is no more than 30% of their combined income. Families should be given subsidies for basic needs, such as food, childcare, personal care items and medical care. Kanaka Maoli (Native Hawaiians) are disproportionately in the highest percentage for being in prisons, health disparities, houselessness etc., and should be cared for to the fullest extent possible.

	Essay	Hawaii faces economic challenges, significantly impacting the middle and lower classes due to increasing inflation rates for groceries, gas, and utilities. Finding solutions beyond legislative changes is essential to organizing town halls and precinct meetings to understand and prioritize community needs. Proposed initiatives include food donations, essential services, personal assistance, and community gardens. Safety, especially for vulnerable members, should be ensured through thorough background checks for volunteers. These efforts provide immediate relief and contribute to building a stronger community.

This includes incentivizing local job creation, supporting small businesses, and investing in infrastructure projects. Truly affordable housing initiatives can increase accessibility for locals, while education and vocational training programs can equip them with relevant skills that lead to high paying jobs. We must also promote responsible tourism and diversify the economy. Engaging local communities to understand their needs ensures policies are responsive and inclusive. By fostering job growth, supporting local businesses, and investing in education and social support, Hawaii can work towards a more resilient and equitable economic future.

		Essay	No economy has ever been taxed in to prosperity. Reducing taxes and regulation stimulates the economy and will INCREASE tax revenues. Tourism stimulates our economy because our state is a beautiful place to visit. Tourism creates opportunities in the services industry, so we should eliminate taxes on income from tips to incentivize residents to work in these occupations, greatly improving the tourism experience. I oppose attempts to legalize marijuana as it will have a detrimental effect Hawaii as a tourist destination.
